

Assistant Professor, Clinical Faculty Appointment

The Department of Psychiatry at The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center in Houston, Texas, invites applicants for a full-time academic appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor, Clinical Faculty Appointment (CFA). This nationally-recognized department is expanding its clinical and research programs and seeks an academic psychiatrist with interest and experience in psychosomatic medicine and psycho-oncology.

Ideal candidates will be prepared to provide high-quality patient care in ambulatory clinical and inpatient consultation-liaison settings, as well as supervising and educating trainees, supervising advanced practice providers, and participation in clinical research and scholarly activities. Candidates should be well-trained clinicians with both clinical and academic interests in the psychiatric and psychosocial impact of cancer. Applicants must hold an MD or equivalent degree and be eligible for full medical licensure in Texas. ABPN eligibility/certification in Psychiatry is required, and fellowship training/certification in Psychosomatic Medicine is highly desirable.

MD Anderson is consistently ranked as the United States' leading institution for cancer care, presenting substantial opportunities for clinical experience and collaboration. The Department of Psychiatry offers unique potential for research with several highly-regarded supportive oncology programs within the institution, and has programmatic and teaching affiliations with Baylor College of Medicine and The University of Texas Medical School at Houston. Salary is commensurate with experience and training, and MDACC provides excellent benefits, including relocation assistance.

Interested applicants should send their curriculum vitae, a cover letter describing their clinical and academic interests, and contact information for three (3) references to:
