

Adult Psychosocial Oncology Psychiatrist

The Cleveland Clinic's Taussig Cancer Institute announces a search for an academic psychiatrist with interest and experience in psychosomatic medicine and psychosocial oncology. This nationally-recognized department is expanding its clinical and research programs. Applicants can anticipate working collaboratively with fellow psycho-oncology providers including two psychologists, a psychiatrist and a team of oncology social workers.

Ideal candidates will be prepared to provide high-quality inpatient and outpatient care. Candidates should be well-trained clinicians with both clinical and academic interests in the psychiatric and psychosocial impact of cancer. Eligible candidates must hold an M.D. degree (or equivalent) and be ABPN board-certified or eligible in Psychiatry. Fellowship training/certification in Psychosomatic Medicine is strongly preferred.

This dynamic position commands an extremely competitive salary enhanced by an attractive benefits package, including but not limited to:

- Medical malpractice coverage
- Generous relocation package
- Faculty appointment at the Cleveland Clinic Lerner College of Medicine, commensurate with experience
- Collegial work environment
