

Levine Cancer Institute, a part of Atrium Health, is seeking a Psychology Fellow to join the Section of Psycho-Oncology within the Department of Supportive Oncology for the 2022-2023 academic year.

Job Summary

Provides clinical psychological services to Adult Oncology patients, engages in research and didactic experiences, and participates in departmental meetings. Assesses, treats, plans, and provides psycho-education, individual, group, and family therapy and intervention to patients in the outpatient setting. All work is performed under the supervision of a licensed psychologist.

Essential Functions

- Clinical services include, but are not limited to, psychological and behavioral assessments, consultation, therapeutic interventions, and participation on clinical teams
- Assesses patients' problems, needs, and level of functioning
- Manages patients in crisis utilizing appropriate skills and assessment
- Provides accurate and consistent documentation of patient care in medical record
- Completes all documentation within facility-established timeframes
- Engages in clinical supervision and other training experiences as required
- Participates in meetings within the assigned department and hospital as appropriate
- Participates in program development and research as appropriate
- Collaborates with other medical and psychosocial providers as needed to provide patient care

Education, Experience and Certifications

Doctoral degree in clinical, clinical child, counseling or health psychology from an APA approved training program required. Completion of an APA accredited internship prior to start date.

Patient Population Served

Demonstrates knowledge of the principles of growth and development and demonstrates the skills and competency appropriate to the ages, culture, developmental stages, and special needs of Adult Oncology patients.

To apply, please send a CV and cover letter to:

Katie Hatcher
Physician/APP Recruiter
Atrium Health